Turning milk into honey

As the financier of choice for black business in South Africa, the National Empowerment Fund (NEF) has unlocked the dreams of many who are helping to build the economy from the forefront in order to take our country forward.

One of these is Ntusi Dairy Farm, which is located in Piet Retief, Mpumalanga Province, within Mkhondo Local Municipality. The business is an established 500ha dairy farm producing and supplying milk to Zaaiberg Dairy (Pty) Ltd, a local dairy processor and strategic partner.

To date the NEF has approved over R6.9 billion of funding for hundreds of black entrepreneurs countrywide, supporting more than 86 000 jobs. From R250 000 to R75 million the NEF can help make your business plan a reality, whether it is for startup, expansion, franchising, procurement, rural and community development, listing on the JSE, equity transformation or for greenfields projects. Come and talk to the NEF, the funder with a soul.
