

Nelson Mandela Bridge,
Johannesburg,
South Africa

Bridging the global economic divide.

The lights are on. Come and invest in Africa.

If you are looking to grow your investments in a stable, democratic and emerging economy, then South Africa is the destination of choice. Country-wide and exciting greenfield opportunities cut across various sectors including tourism, mining, minerals beneficiation, agro-processing, renewable energy, business process outsourcing (BPO) and infrastructure development.

South Africa's National Empowerment Fund, established under the Government of Dr Nelson Mandela in order to right the wrongs of apartheid, has crafted a range of dynamic developmental plans to realise economic growth, offering potentially lucrative value and opportunity to international investors who are willing to become partners in this uniquely positioned gateway into Africa.

South Africa is one of the most sophisticated and promising emerging markets globally. The unique combination of a highly developed first-world economic infrastructure and a huge emergent market economy has given rise to a strong entrepreneurial and dynamic investment environment, which is enhanced through the opportunities that Broad-Based Black Economic Empowerment present to foreign investors.

Walk across the bridge. Come and Grow with us.
